An American Moses
February 15-24, 2019
Admission Free

When a storyteller summons Harriet Tubman from the past, one of America's greatest heroines offers to divulge the details of her extraordinary life. As the storyteller portrays the diverse characters from her past, from Frederick Douglas to plantation owners, Harriet relives her humble beginnings with her family through the end of the Civil War. Though widely known for her unimaginable feats of courage, this play also explores the finer details of Harriet's life, evoking her more nuanced messages of hope and faith in other people.

Kids and adults alike love the poetry of Shel Silverstein. This camp will put together an evening of Silverstein poetry, in which each young actor plays an equal and meaningful part. Campers will select the poems, create sets, and work together to create this show! Silverstein poems make great audition monologues for future shows.
